Featuring Nick Mundt of Bone Collectors!!

Nick Mundt is a native of Spearfish, South Dakota. Growing up in the Black Hills he began hunting and fishing with his family at an early age. After high school, Nick attended Barber school and worked for several years in his hometown Barber Shop. In the mid 90's Nick spent several summers working on a commercial salmon fishing boat in Alaska's Bristol Bay. He then began guiding hunters in Wyoming at 7J Outfitters; his duties included guiding clients for Mule deer, Whitetails, Antelope, elk and turkeys. After guiding full time for 8 years, he was introduced to the crew at Team Realtree. He was hired by David Blanton and became a Field Producer and freelance cameraman for 9 years. While at Team Realtree, Nick made several entertaining appearances on Realtree Road trips with Michael Waddell.

In 2008 Waddell started a new company and TV series called Bone Collector, Waddell invited Mundt and Travis "T-Bone" Turner to co-host the show and it has been a big hit right from the start. Bone Collector focuses on the culture of the hunter and takes its viewers to top hunting destinations around the world. The show and its hosts are very entertaining and has been a top rated show on Outdoor Channel and continues to lead the way in outdoor TV.
